

28 December 1950

Dear Torch:

Bill Jackson, who seems to be over his head in work at the moment, has turned over to me your letter of 22 December. He told me that he would be delighted to see you at any time that you were down here next month, and I would suggest that you call me or his secretary so that we can set up a time for you. Better still, you might let me know a little in advance so that I can make sure he will be here as I think it would be well worth your while to have a talk with him.

I, myself, have been down here for two months, and although one seems to work day and night, I, needless to say, find it terribly interesting.

Nice to hear from you if only indirectly. Let me know a little ahead of time when you are coming so that besides seeing Bill you and I can get together.

Sincerely,
